

Dear Friends,

The American Pianists Association continues to touch the world from our headquarters in Indianapolis, Indiana. During fiscal year 2015, our mission impacted thousands of people worldwide. That means, thanks to supporters like you, more than 134,000,000 people across the globe were able to experience the soul-stirring and life-affirming sound that is music!

From our school-based Concerto Curriculum to the Jazz Fellowship Awards held at Hilbert Circle Theatre to broadcasts over radio, television, satellite radio and webcast, the American Pianists Association provided innumerable ways for individuals of all ages to play a part in discovering, advancing and promoting the careers of world-class jazz and classical pianists.

I simply cannot express in words the level of gratitude the American Pianists Association has for your continued support and generosity. I am hopeful that what you read on the pages of this annual report will reaffirm the significance of your contributions and importance of the American Pianists Association's mission. Thank you for helping us touch the world with music!

Sincerely,
Joel M. Harrison, DMA
Artistic Director & President/CEO

Fiscal year 2015 was the American Pianists Association's most successful in our 37-year history! Among our many accomplishments, it will forever be remembered as the year when Sullivan Fortner emerged as the winner of the American Pianists Award.

As the largest, most comprehensive jazz piano competition in the world, the 2015 American Pianists Awards presented by REI Real Estate Services provided an unparalleled opportunity for young American jazz pianists to grow their careers. The uncommon and distinctive artistry demonstrated by this year's Finalists made Indianapolis a critical destination for true jazz enthusiasts!

The impact of our work reached far beyond our base. These are some of the many ways we touched the world in 2015:

- Every concert of the jazz piano competition SOLD OUT - totaling more than 2,000 tickets!
- Over 4,000 students and community members attended free outreach programs and concerts by the five Finalists during the competition.
- At least 40,000 people listened to the Premiere Series and Semi-Finals concerts broadcast on WFYI-FM.
- The webcast of the finals was viewed by over 4,000 people, with another 2,000 listening live on WICR-FM.
- Over 4 million listeners enjoyed hearing the competition on SiriusXM Satellite Radio.
- Our broadcasts on Voice of America were heard by over 134 million people.

THANK YOU! The American Pianists Association is able to execute our mission to discover, promote and advance the careers of young world-class jazz and classical pianists thanks to kind-hearted individuals and corporations like you! We are pleased to recognize those who contribute to the only organization in the United States supporting American pianists in both jazz and classical music. Each donor and corporate sponsor is valued as a partner in making it possible to support young, American pianists and nurture future generations of music enthusiasts. Donors and sponsors are also helping enhance music programs in Central Indiana High Schools through community and education outreach programs.
